Biography

Christopher D. Lonn is a Member of Jennings Strouss whose legal practice is focused on complex commercial litigation, arbitration and administrative law, with a specific emphasis on securities and investment fraud litigation and arbitration, real estate disputes, business divorces, dental professional representation and employment law and litigation. For over 25 years, Chris has represented clients in a wide array of matters involving: business disputes, commercial torts, commercial sales contracts, buy-sell agreements, non-competition agreements, non-solicitation agreements, non-disclosure agreements, trade secret litigation, defamation and breaches of fiduciary duty. Chris is licensed to practice in Arizona and California.

Chris strives to take complex and confusing factual and legal issues and break them down into easily understandable concepts. Another important aspect of Chris's representation is to comprehensively evaluate the dispute or business matter from all angles and then select the most cost-effective and practical way to tackle it.

In connection with his securities and investment fraud practice, Chris has experience representing broker-dealers and investors in proceedings before administrative agencies, including the Arizona Securities Division, the Arizona Corporation Commission, the Financial Industry Regulatory Authority (FINRA) and the Securities and Exchange Commission (SEC). Chris has also represented clients before the Arizona Department of Financial Institutions.
